

Life can change in an instant. Be covered when it does.

2017 – 2018

- Covered California is the state’s health insurance marketplace where Californians can find affordable, high-quality insurance. Being covered is the best plan, especially when it comes to health insurance. Consumers can purchase health insurance from well-known, brand-name carriers, such as Kaiser Permanente and Blue Shield of California, and most receive financial assistance to help pay their monthly premiums.
- We know there is a lot of discussion in the media about what Congress and the new federal administration will do about health care reform, but rest assured, Covered California is still here for the state’s consumers.
- And don’t be confused by the national noise about a shortened open enrollment period! Unlike other states belonging to the federal health care exchange, Covered California’s open enrollment remains three-months-long – the same as years before – and runs from Nov. 1, 2017 until Jan. 31, 2018.
- Once enrolled in a Covered California health plan, your health plan rates are locked in for 2018 coverage.
- And we all know that “life can change in an instant,” as events of the past year has shown us. But in terms of health care, what happens if you break your leg or your child falls and needs stitches – if you DON’T have health insurance? That’s right, it will cost you thousands of dollars in medical expenses, and may

- put you and your family in financial debt.
- Covered California’s current marketing theme is “Life can change in an instant,” to remind us why it’s so important for everyone in our church and our community to make sure they are enrolled into health insurance plans and their friends and family are also enrolled. Yes, life can change in an instant, and you need to be covered when it does.
- And those who already have a health plan through Covered California or Medi-Cal — as well as those seeking new health insurance — should be reassured that Covered California’s doors are open to help you get health coverage for 2018.
- Having health insurance in place to help cover the cost of “life’s unexpected moments” provides financial protection for you and your family, and will give you peace of mind knowing you'll have it when you need it!

Financial Help is Available

Don't leave your money on the table!

- Financial assistance is available through Covered California to help pay your monthly premium.
- The average household in California received $5,200 in up-front tax credits to help pay their monthly premium.

Covered California can help you access financial assistance to help pay for your health insurance.

- Did you know that the average consumer saves 70 percent off their monthly premium, thanks to financial assistance only available through Covered California?
- In addition to the financial help, you can also choose the Enhanced Silver Plan, which makes access to care even more affordable through reduced copayments for doctor visits, lab tests and more.

Unfortunately, Covered California has found that many uninsured Californians, including many African-Americans, are unaware of the financial help available.

What Coping Looks Like

- Praying nothing will happen.
- Using the emergency room for general medical treatment — and walking away with a hefty emergency room bill.
- Taking unnecessary risks with your health — refusing to see a doctor.
- Diagnosing your own illness.
- Using home remedies to “treat” illness.
- Never being able to shake an illness.
- Not knowing what is bothering you.
- Living with higher stress.
- Facing the threat of bankruptcy due to high medical bills.

When people just cope without being able to see a doctor or get treated for a serious illness, the outcomes are usually not good. We all know friends and family who are coping, in hopes that they’ll get better. Here are some examples of what coping looks like:

- Praying nothing will happen.
 - Using the emergency room for general medical treatment, and walking away with a hefty emergency room bill.
 - Taking unnecessary risks with your health — refusing to see a doctor.
 - Diagnosing your own illness.
 - Depending on home remedies to treat illness.
 - Never being able to shake an illness.
 - Not knowing what is bothering you.
 - Living with higher stress.
 - Facing the threat of bankruptcy due to high medical bills.
- Most importantly, coping is risky for our community.

Coping is Risky for African-Americans

- Generally, African-Americans have the highest mortality rate of any racial and ethnic group for cancer.
- African-American women are 40 percent more likely to die from breast cancer.
- African-American adults are 40 percent more likely to have high blood pressure and 18 percent less likely to have their blood pressure under control.
- African-American adults are also twice as likely to be diagnosed with diabetes.
- The infant mortality rate among African-Americans is 2.3 times that of non-Hispanic whites, and African-American infants are 4 times more likely than non-Hispanic white infants to die due to complications related to low birthweight.

In addition, coping without insurance is just plain risky. Here's why:

- Generally, African-Americans have the highest mortality rate of any racial and ethnic group for cancer and for most major cancers individually, including stomach, liver, prostate and colon cancers.
- Even though the rate of breast cancer incidence is 10 percent lower among African-American women, they are 40 percent more likely to die from the disease. Earlier screening and detection for African-American women could help reduce this death rate.
- Although African-American adults are 40 percent more likely to have high blood pressure, they are 18 percent less likely than their non-Hispanic white counterparts to have their blood pressure under control.
- African-American adults are also twice as likely to be diagnosed with diabetes.
- And, the infant mortality rate among African-Americans is 2.3 times that of non-Hispanic whites, and African-American infants are 4 times more likely than non-Hispanic white infants to die due to complications related to low birthweight.
- The bottom line on coping is this: When we cope without health insurance, we neglect what's important. And the way we live today, everything that is important is insured.

Eligible African-Americans Can Get Help

- An estimated 130,000 African-Americans are eligible to enroll and receive financial assistance but have not yet enrolled in a Covered California health plan.
- Eligible Californians don't have to cope; money is available to help you pay your premiums.

If you are eligible for Covered California, financial help is available. There's no reason to leave your money on the table by refusing to enroll.

About 130,000 African Americans are eligible to enroll and receive financial assistance but have not yet enrolled in a Covered California health plan.

Coping without health insurance is unnecessary and risky: If you're eligible, please take advantage of the money available to you and enroll right away; if you know someone who is eligible, please tell them what you've heard today and encourage them to get enrolled.

You may be asking yourself why this is so important. It's important because your life is important and you matter.

It's Not Just Health Care — It's Life Care

Cultivating a Culture of Coverage

- Everything important is worth insuring.
 - Peace of mind for you and your family.
- Regular visits to your health care provider put you in the driver's seat.
 - Preventive care means you know what's going on with your body at all times.
- Affordable monthly premiums give you access to hospital stays, treatment for serious illness, and dignity for you and your family.
 - No worries about being turned away or going bankrupt when a medical emergency happens.

Our goal is to create a community in which everyone is insured, and having health care insurance becomes a way of life.

That's why our church is working with Covered California to make sure no one is without health insurance in our state.

- Just as our lives are assured for all eternity through the gift of salvation, we must be good stewards here on the earth and insure our lives here and now.
- Being a good steward means that we are to take care of our body, which is the temple of the Holy Spirit, according to 1 Corinthians 6:19.
- When we talk about good health, we are talking about economic stability, social stability, and family stability; all these things are connected and health care doesn't stand apart from them.

So we encourage you to walk by faith and not by sight, and please get enrolled today.

The Bible tells us that God's plan for us is to be in good health and to prosper.

3 John 2 says "Beloved, I pray that you may prosper in all things and be in health, just as your soul prospers."

I'll leave you with this word from scripture:

The Bible tells us that God's plan for us is to be in good health and to prosper. 1 John 2 says "Beloved, I pray that you may prosper in all things and be in health, just as your soul prospers."
